

Jessica Alba Dynasty League – Free Agency Auction Procedure

I. Introduction

I thought it useful to set out to everyone how I intend to run the auction. I want to be clear from the outset that this should be a fair and even process with the player going to the highest bidder. Whilst of course I would like to encourage strategy in nominations and bidding, I don't want anyone gaming the Sleeper system. We're using this to make it easier for me to administrate rather than to gather any advantage. I also don't anticipate that there will be 50 players wanted or needed in the auction. To achieve this fairness and prevent an unnecessarily long draft I would like to set out some additional process to the one that Sleeper provides.

II. Auction Process

There will be a maximum of 5 rounds with everyone having a pick in each round available if they need their 5 nominations. This means you will be able to add a maximum of 5 players to your roster.

Each person will have 60 seconds to nominate a free agent of their choice. This will be an automatic bid of $1. As soon as the choice is made a 180 second timer will then commence. Everyone (except the highest bidder) will then have the ability to bid for that player. You may choose an amount to bid or simply press bid which will increase the bid by $1. Be careful when picking this latter option as someone may place a large bid just before you do.

To avoid last moment sniping of picks I will ask when bidding has paused for a 10 second period if there are any further bids. With assent I will then end the 'phase' and the next nomination period will start.

There is no necessity to make any nomination, bid for players or use all 5 of your picks. You may be happy with your teams, have no roster space available, not see anyone available worth picking up or simply wish to save you FAAB for later in the season. Unfortunately, Sleeper doesn't allow you to skip a nomination in its present format. So, I would like to propose the following method:

Once the nomination process begins and you do not wish to make a nomination, you will need to inform me, either in the Zoom call, the auction chat or on Whatsapp that you wish to skip your nomination. I'll then provide the name of a 'filler' player to nominate and let everyone know that you are skipping your turn. Once this filler player is nominated I shall immediately skip the bidding phase, that player will be 'won' for $1, and the next nomination phase will begin. To add an extra wrinkle and avoid an unnecessarily long auction once you have skipped a nomination you will not be able to make any further nominations in the auction. You will still be able to bid on players others have nominated. If you require an additional space in the auction, let me know and I can remove a filler player to allow you to continue bidding on players. Once all players have either skipped a nomination or filled their 5 spots I will bring the auction to an end.

Post Auction

Once the draft has ended and we finish our call, I will remove all filler players from your rosters and remove the amount of FAAB spent on players won in the auction. This may take a little time so please be patient. Any players left in free agency (or dropped in the intervening period) will next be available at the first waiver via the usual blind bidding process.

The first waiver was intended to be on 8th September two weeks after the original auction date and one week after roster cut-off (this was to avoid the first waivers being a large blind auction). As we are holding this auction considerably earlier than originally intended. There will be weekly waivers each Sunday commencing August 15th. This is again to avoid a large auction on 8th September following training camps and pre-season news. I would encourage everyone to keep a close eye on the news to avoid missing out on players in these weekly waivers.

From 8th September the usual/new waiver process will begin during the season.

Filler Players

I have created a list of 40 filler players below. In the highly unlikely event you actually wanted to nominate one of these players please let me know and I shall update the list.
