

Jessica Alba Dynasty League – 2024 Season Preview

1. Introduction

Welcome to the fifth year of our dynasty league! After another eventful season I know that we're all eager for the kick-off of the NFL season and the fantasy adventure that accompanies it.

I'd like to start by congratulating myself on my magnificent victory last year and wish you all almost the best of luck for the season ahead. At least we don't have to worry me gloating for at least another 5 months in every update. Just imagine how annoying it would be to hear all about a three-peat, eh?

It's the third season with our Lombardi and Madden Conferences vying for dominance over the JADL. From a factual and academic perspective, it is evident that the MFC is the dominant conference at present but I'm sure in a few years of good drafts and maybe a bit of trading the LFC will start to become more competitive in the right direction. Maybe that could even start this season?

There are ample stats on our website and on Sleeper so I won't go as heavily into these as before but I have included a few metrics about what the often-maligned experts think now and did they get it right on the whole last season.

2. K.I.T.T.L.E (Alex - LFC) – 10th Place

2023				2024
Power Ranking	Prediction ECR (JR™)	Regular Season Finish	Overall Finish	Power Ranking	Prediction	Jebus Ranking™
51	10 th (9 th)	10 th (-)	10 th (-)	67 (+16)	8 th	9 th

QB		RB		WR		TE
FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™
5 th	=8 th	9 th	=8 th	10 th	=8 th	6 th	=4 th

Total		QB		RB		WR		TE
Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank
2316.0	8 th	789.3	7 th	513.8	9 th	684.1	8 th	328.8	4 th

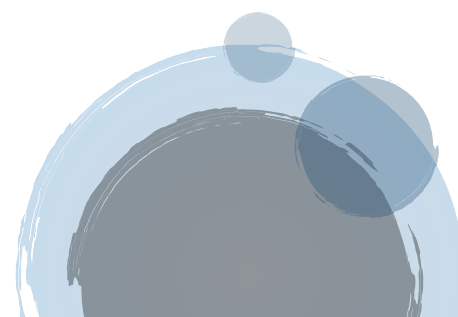

JR™ Score	JR™ Tier	Projected Record		Playoff Odds	Bye-pocalypse
4.17	3 of 3	Wins	Loses	17%	Week(s)
		5	9	(LFC – 4 th)	10, 11, 12 & 14

Last season's projected bottom team continues with the 4th year of his rebuild in 2024. He picked up some top players at QB, WR and a TE in the draft but has it improved his playoff chances for this year? Well, it seems unlikely but he's finally moved off the bottom!

Alex has a heap of QBs but, in a change from previous years, has more than one is a starter. In fact, he has four! This has moved him up the ranks to 5th. He now has a QB1 to go with a QB2 and three QB3s. He'll need to find another QB1 if he wants to start competing but it's a good move in the right direction.

Alex moved on from his star RB last year and has cut the core to the bone with just 6 RBs, maxing out with two RB3s and two RB4s. However, he isn't ranked bottom of the pile but the projected points score is pretty low. It's a textbook rebuild strategy to add your RBs last and AI is following that book to the letter. Maybe the 2025 draft will be the time to invest again?

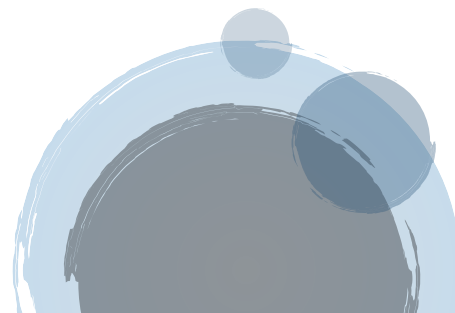

Like at QB, Alex has improved a previously very poor WR core with his draft picks. He now has a WR2, two WR3s and three WR4s. However, you can't rely on rookies to rack up those points in year one and that's reflected in his projected points. Another case of maybe next year.

At TE Alex is middle of the ranks. He swapped last year's rookie TE pick with another this year. Unfortunately for him, that pick is at the Raiders. He's got two TE1s and that's more than many teams can claim. Is this a place he can continue trading up to some TE needy contenders?

Every week looks like it's still probably going to be tough given the 8th total projected points. However, Week 10, 11, 12 and 14 – all divisional weeks look particularly tough. Chris, Rich, Mike and Dave may have all got themselves some easier matchups leading up to the playoffs. Those five predicted wins must come in the first nine weeks, I'm guessing.

Alex has kept it tight and will be hoping luck emerges in those WR and QB picks to get his team back on track and competing again. There are definitely some toolsy prospects there and while it looks like it will be another tough year, perhaps the light may just be at the end of that tunnel.

3. Falcons (Chris - MFC) – 9th Place

2023				2024
Power Ranking	Prediction ECR (JR™)	Regular Season Finish	Overall Finish	Power Ranking	Prediction	Jebus Ranking™
73	6 th (6 th)	8 th (-2)	9 th (-3)	75 (+2)	7 th	=6 th

QB		RB		WR		TE
FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™
7 th	3 rd	6 th	7 th	8 th	7 th	3 rd	=8 th

Total		QB		RB		WR		TE
Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank
2379.7	7 th	887.5	4 th	536.7	8 th	734.7	6 th	220.8	10 th

JR™ Score	JR™ Tier	Projected Record		Playoff Odds	Bye-pocalypse
3.60	2 of 3	Wins	Loses	55% (MFC - 5 th)	Week(s)
		7	7		10, 11, 12 & 14

It was a 9th place finish for our perpetual builder but does this year hold some hope to finally make that second playoff appearance? Erm, possibly but being in the MFC isn't doing him any favours. According to the experts his team has is pretty static in projected finish while that's bad news for ~~the~~ ~~Warden~~ Chris it's good news for Alex again.

At QB we've got a conflict between the experts and the infallible Jebus Rankings™. Experts have him at 7th, JR at 3rd and projected points at 4th. It's unarguably his strongest room with two QB1s and he who shall not be named as a QB2. Kyler appears to be fit which is good news but Chase not yet having a deal casts a bit of doubt over Burrow's upside. Will Chris be relying on the (alleged) sexual predator to be good again to be competing this year.

While Chris did have one of the stronger starting RB cores, alas, age and the move towards RBBC (running back by committee) has left him with just one RB1 remaining, a RB2 and not much else. I'm sure everything will be fine relying on the health of a 30-year old and a Kenneth who has never completed a full season. Might need to trade to improve this room.

Chris has one of the weaker WR cores and much like his RB room it's a bit short on quality depth for 2024. It's not all bad though. Led out by a WR1s and three WR3s, there's definitely some quality in there. He's got some rookies beyond that but if he genuinely wants to compete he also needs to add to this room too.

At TE Chris has a very good starting TE with the TE4 in Trey McBride. Once again he has absolutely nothing beyond that. Eric All Jr is his next best ranked TE. Yeah – I have no idea who that is either. As a result, the lowest projected points at TE. Guess what I'm going to say now – that's right, if he has any hope of competing for 17 weeks he might need a bit more help here.

With such a paper-thin squad, there no surprises that he's looking a bit weak in weeks 10, 11, 12 and 14. That's not so bad in Week 10 against Alex but the need to win to get that playoff spot in the MFC the remaining weeks are against Ross, Lee and your noble Commissioner. Oof, the season looks like it's a bit of an uphill battle.

Whilst Chris has a 55% chance of reaching the playoffs, he has the lowest odds in the MFC and with only the top three spots guaranteed a playoff spot - add that to a 7th in projected points - it's not looking great for the Falcons. There is the potential for a run to the playoffs if he gets very lucky with injuries or trades to find some depth to be competitive over a long season. If he can buy a ticket, he can win it but maybe it's time to think about re-building this build?

4. Mandos (Gareth - LFC) – 8th Place

2023				2024
Power Ranking	Prediction ECR (JR™)	Regular Season Finish	Overall Finish	Power Ranking	Prediction	Jebus Ranking™
56	9 th (10 th)	9 th (-)	8 th (+1)	61 (+5)	10 th	10 th

QB		RB		WR		TE
FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™
4 th	=6 th	8 th	=8 th	9 th	10 th	10 th	=8 th

Total		QB		RB		WR		TE
Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank
2158.8	10 th	741.4	9 th	561.6	7 th	608.2	10 th	247.6	9 th

JR™ Score	JR™ Tier	Projected Record		Playoff Odds	Bye-pocalypse
4.40	3 of 3	Wins	Loses	9% (LFC – 5 th)	Week(s)
		4	10		10, 11 & 14

After being back-to-back Loser of All Losers, Gareth managed to avoid shift himself off the bottom last year. Only to find himself very much in a similar place in terms of projections this year. Could we have the first ‘trophy’ winner to get to keep his trophy after three magnificent victories? As we heard from the last review, he’s got a young side now, so let’s take a look at G’s refreshed team.

Three starting QBs is a great start. AR15 is ranked as an QB1, Bryce Young (QB3) has the QB whisperer Dave Canales in his ear and who can forget about Gardner Minshew (QB3) leading out the mighty Raiders? The transition from a team of old men to not so little kids has taken place. He just needs them to perform now.

Gareth’s RB core isn’t great. 8th in rankings and 7th in projected points. Like Alex, is a textbook rebuild tactic of ignoring your RB room in favour of strengthening everywhere else first. Three RB3s and not much else make up the room. Maybe Javonte Williams will finally come good again? It’s not a championship winning lineup – unless your championship is turd shaped.

Gareth’s WR core again looks young and filled with hope. Led by a WR1 Marvin Harrison Jr, but backed up by not much. Two WR4s and a WR5 then more dross. MHJ aside, it is the worst WR room in the JADL. Maybe more WR picks are needed. Could selling MHJ actually improve this team (beyond 2024)?

Another position and the same old story. Youth in abundance but not too much in terms of proven production just yet. Is Taysom Hill his best 'TE'? Anyway, this room is grim and not very good.

With this team it's kind of tough to say which bye-weeks are an issue given the lack of relative strength. I guess Weeks 10 (vs Mike), 11 (vs Neil) and 14 (vs Rich) maybe particularly tough with some significant players out.

Crikey it's going to be another hard year for our elder statesman but I think he knows this. There's some youth and hope for the future which won't be hurt by another high draft pick. Should he consider cashing in one or two of those prize assets for multiple first round picks though?

5. Canton Giants (Neil - MFC) – 7th Place

2023				2024
Power Ranking	Prediction ECR (JR™)	Regular Season Finish	Overall Finish	Power Ranking	Prediction	Jebus Ranking™
63	8 th (8 th)	7 th (+1)	7 th (+1)	76 (+13)	6 th	8 th

QB		RB		WR		TE
ECR	JR™	ECR	JR™	ECR	JR™	ECR	JR™
6 th	=4 th	5 th	=5 th	5 th	=8 th	8 th	7 th

Total		QB		RB		WR		TE
Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank
2582.6	6 th	880.1	5 th	725.2	5 th	673.1	9 th	304.2	6 th

JR™ Score	JR™ Tier	Projected Record		Playoff Odds	Bye-pocalypse
3.69	2 of 3	Wins	Loses	57% (MFC – 4 th)	Week(s)
		7	7		6 & 9

It was a tough 2023 for Neil and his Giants as his improved side just missed out on the playoffs despite a winning record. He managed to gain a Caleb Williams from this misfortune so it's not all bad. The predictions this year indicate it may be another similar season on the edges of the playoffs. He's bucked those predications before both making and not making the playoffs. Let's see what's in store for us this season.

Neil's strengthened his QB room over the summer adding the NFL's number one overall pick and moving on from Daniel Jones in a somewhat questionable trade. He's got a QB1 and two QB2s so is looking all set but maybe he needs to wait a couple of years until the core is ranked higher. Apparently, it's middle of the pack right now.

Neil's RB core is intriguing. He's got an RB1, two RB2s and an RB3 so not bad but not great either. However, Achane is a bit of an enigma. The explosive dwarf has some absolutely astounding stats (7.7 yards per carry!) but his diminutive stature leads to him missing a lot of time injured. If he could maintain his stats and health then maybe this room is better than it seems?

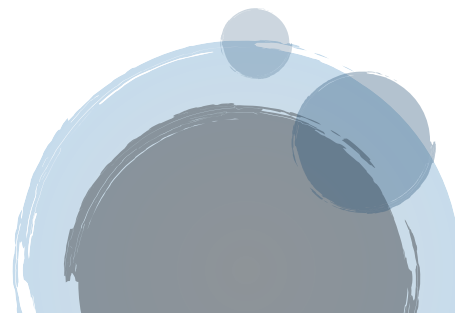

WR is probably Neil's greatest weakness: a WR1 (reliant on Aaron Rodgers), a frequently injured WR2 then not much else. This leaves him 9th in projected points. I know he traded for Roman Wilson but he's going to wildly exceed expectations of WR82 to significantly contribute to this year. If he wants to get back into the playoffs again, he needs to strengthen this area of his team quite drastically.

Neil's picked up George Kittle at the draft to help this room which suffered from the dearth of quality at the TE position. He's got him then a load of rubbish like most teams. Main problem with Kittle: he can score 20+ points on week and then one point the next.

He's done some excellent planning with bye weeks not significantly affected him too much. But our other mid-table teams – Dave and Ross – will benefit the most in weeks 6 and 9.

It looks likely to be another interesting season for Neil. He's got some players which could break fantasy in a given week but then score nothing (or be injured) the next. Can he beat the odds and force two other MFC teams into the toilet bowl and get back in the playoffs once more?

6. Mac to the Future (Dave - LFC) – 6th Place

2023				2024
Power Ranking	Prediction ECR (JR™)	Regular Season Finish	Overall Finish	Power Ranking	Prediction	Jebus Ranking™
85	3 rd (4 th)	5 th (-2)	6 th (-3)	91 (+6)	4 th	4 th

QB		RB		WR		TE
FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™
8 th	=6 th	2 nd	1 st	7 th	6 th	5 th	=4 th

Total		QB		RB		WR		TE
Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank
2718.1	4 th	807.1	6 th	859.0	1 st	732.4	7 th	319.6	5 th

JR™ Score	JR™ Tier	Projected Record		Playoff Odds	Bye-pocalypse
2.96	1 of 3	Wins	Loses	85% (LFC – 2 nd)	Week(s)
		8	6		5, 10, & 12

Next up we're back in the LFC with the team that's finished 5th and then 6th the last two years. Has Dave done enough trading to finally move out of mid table or is he just pushing his peas around the plate? Does his team have what it takes to be the first team in the LFC to take the belt? Let's see.

It's not a great start at QB. Firmly mid table in rankings and projected points. Not surprising given the room. He's got three starters: Jordan Love, his lone QB1; Trevor Lawrence a QB2; then newly acquired, Danny Dimes who's a QB3. Literally a boat load of backups after that.

He finally breaks that mid-table mode at RB. At the top of the charts in rankings and projected points, Dave arguably has one of the strongest RB cores in the league. No fewer than three RB1s, two RB2s and some depth pieces, it's looking good and competitive for Dave. When Dave won previously his strength at RB was consistency and depth. He's reverted to that winning formula so let's see if lightning strikes twice. In fact he could probably field four RBs every week in his lineup....

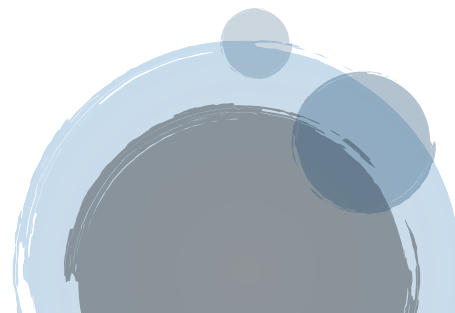

....probably because he has to. This WR core is back to that middling, even bottom half of the table WR room. If you're looking for a weakness in his team, here it is. It's not that bad though with three WR2s and one WR3 and some old guys, there's definitely worse WR rooms but there's no one elite to get him over the line when push comes to shove in the playoffs. If his team was in the MFC it would have no hope. As he's in the LFC it should be enough but will it be enough to push his team to glory again?

Another room, another mid-table rank and projected points. A TE1 in Dalton Kincaid who could be the number one target in Buffalo is the hope that might kill Dave's season. After the retirement of Darren Waller his backup is the Muth – serviceable but probably not winning any belts.

Looking at bye weeks and Dave has a couple of decisive LFC matchups in week 10 (vs Rich) and 12 (vs Gareth) potentially being a bit of an issue. He also has a bit of an issue in week 5 – can your Commish finally get a break of luck against Dave?

Dave certainly has the quality in key positions, to make a stronger push than before to challenge Mike in the LFC and maybe even the MFC. It's going to require a bit of luck and maybe even more trading to sure up those middling position for Dave to avoid mid-table mediocrity once again.

7. The Rookies Nest (Ross - MFC) – 5th Place

2023				2024
Power Ranking	Prediction ECR (JR™)	Regular Season Finish	Overall Finish	Power Ranking	Prediction	Jebus Ranking™
75	5 th (5 th)	4 th (+1)	5 th (-)	86 (+11)	5 th	5 th

QB		RB		WR		TE
FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™
1 st	=4 rd	7 th	=5 th	2 nd	=4 th	9 th	=8 th

Total		QB		RB		WR		TE
Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank
2646.2	5 th	900.1	2 nd	683.6	6 th	797.7	3 rd	264.8	8 th

JR™ Score	JR™ Tier	Projected Record		Playoff Odds	Bye-pocalypse
3.44	2 of 3	Wins	Loses	72%	Week(s)
		7	7	(MFC – 3 rd)	5, 7, 9 & 12

Back to the MFC and its ‘Always Makes The Playoffs And Comes Fifth At Best’, sorry, it’s The Rookies Nest. And what do the projected rankings tell us – another 5th place finish. I am shocked. It’s always fun looking at Ross’ team, so what to make of this version of the team?

In a change from previous years, Ross doesn’t just have two starters. Nor three. This year he has four whole starters on his roster! The QB1, two QB2s and a QB3 with Russell Wilson sneaking in as that final starter for now. This puts him up there with one of the best QB rooms and second in projected points. Ross is off to a great start as usual – how can you not with Josh Allen?

We’ve been to the top of the rollercoaster and now we’re on the way down when we look at Ross’ RB core. He’s got an RB1 in ETN, two RB2s and his rookie pick as an RB3. That’s it really – we don’t actually believe that a player coming off an ACL injury then a Achilles tear is actually going to be good this year, do we? I would humbly suggest that if you want to finish higher than fifth then improvement is needed here (and a Goedert for Saquon trade seems a little bit optimistic).

Back up the hill on the rollercoaster at WR with the absolute starlet leading his lineup in Ceedee Lamb. At the time of writing he’s not signed that contract (eek) but assuming he does he’s a real difference maker and significantly contributes to that 3rd place in projected points. After that is a WR2 who may or may not be playing for the 49ers this year, two WR3s and two WR4s. It's not the deepest core but can do the business when on form.

Back down the hill we go at TE. The aforementioned Dallas Goedert just about makes it as a TE1. Following that it's pretty much dross. Maybe should've kept Kelce if he wanted to compete – not massively sure Goedert and ETN were really worth it.

With some weaker depth charts it won't come as a surprise that there might be some tough weeks coming up when the byes hit. He's going to be looking at lower tier replacements against opponents in weeks 5 (vs Rich), 7 (vs Chris), 9 (vs Neil) and 12 (vs Rich).

With Chris, Neil and Ross all predicted to have 7-7 records, the playoff spots could be really tight. Does Ross need to tip his hand so he can make the playoffs and come 5th again? Or could he really make some changes and cash in one of those big chips to make bigger improvements to win that belt?

8. J J F J (Lee - MFC) – 4th Place

2023				2024
Power Ranking	Prediction ECR (JR™)	Regular Season Finish	Overall Finish	Power Ranking	Prediction	Jebus Ranking™
100	1 st (1 st)	2 nd (-1)	4 th (-3)	100 (-)	1 st	3 rd

QB		RB		WR		TE
FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™
10 th	=8 th	1 st	4 th	1 st	1 st	2 nd	=1 st

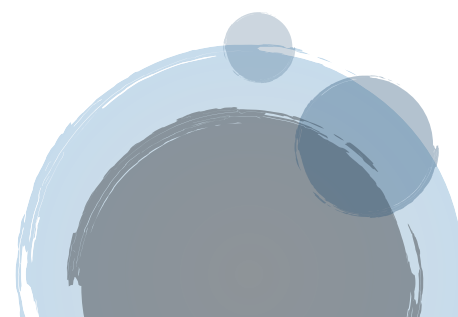

Total		QB		RB		WR		TE
Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank
2863.1	2 nd	773.9	8 th	839.2	2 nd	895.9	1 st	354.1	2 nd

JR™ Score	JR™ Tier	Projected Record		Playoff Odds	Bye-pocalypse
2.73	1 of 3	Wins	Loses	92% (MFC – 1 st)	Week(s)
		9	5		5, 6 & 12

Next up is the back-to-back champion....of the MFC. Not a title to sniff at but also not the one he really wants. At least he has a trophy to show for his efforts.... Moving on, this side had the potential to be a juggernaut that couldn't be beaten. Ranked first overall by the experts and the infallible JR™ last year – where is he now? The experts still have him at number 1 but the JR is a bit more circumspect – I wonder why?

Oh, here we are. Lee's QB core is by far the weakest area of his team and the worst QB room in the MFC. We'll see later examples of the inverse and the power that has. He doesn't even have a QB1 to rely on in his ranks. He does have two QB2s; two consistent performers in Jared Goff and Kirk Cousins, then a QB3 who he refuses to play. There's also a load of backups and dross. Oh, and he's still got Trey Lance hanging around.

From that disaster zone, his RB room is an area of strength. Whilst his RB room didn't quite live up to its hype of last year (what happened to Ekeler!?), it's still strong with two RB1's including the game breaking CMC who contributes to that second placed projected points total. Unlike Chris, these are backed up by an RB2 and two RB3s. It's not the room it once was as Dave takes that crown but it's still very good.

From strength to strength as we move onto Lee's WR room. No fewer than three WR1s, a WR2, a WR3 and a WR4. It's no surprise that this room is unanimously ranked at the top and going to rack up a shit load of points. Another room where he needs not worry about adding to what is already stacked.

I'm very glad Lee takes these previews so seriously. He traded Goedert for Kelce to get his room back up to championship standards (and Ross effectively threw in the towel on 30 August 2023). That trade leaves him still at the top of the rankings and projected points. He has a couple of TE2s as backup but they're not great options. He'll be hoping that Kelce is once again injury free and a central part of the offence in-season, as well as in the NFL playoffs.

With so many options at RB and WR there aren't too many troublesome bye weeks, except where he's a bit short on the QB side. Perhaps two concerning bye weeks at 5, 6 and 12, against Mike, Gareth and Chris, respectively.

Lee's team is probably the team to beat this year and perhaps beyond. He's also invested heavily in this team and will want to get more than an MFC title to his name. Has the perfect plan come together or will difficulties at QB or an injury to one of those brilliant WRs derail his third shot at picking up that belt? Now he could plug all these WRs and RBs into his flex spots and maybe even his superflex spot but the upside of his fourth or fifth WR/RB the same as the upside of another QB1? Maybe something to mull over as his QBs fell short 11 points in the conference game last year (he lost by 9 pts).

9. Inch by Inch (Rich - LFC) – 3rd Place

2023				2024
Power Ranking	Prediction ECR (JR™)	Regular Season Finish	Overall Finish	Power Ranking	Prediction	Jebus Ranking™
66	7 th (7 th)	6 th (+1)	3 rd (+4)	67 (+1)	9 th	=6 th

QB		RB		WR		TE
FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™
9 th	=8 th	10 th	=8 th	4 th	=2 nd	1 st	=1 st

Total		QB		RB		WR		TE
Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank
2276.1	9 th	633.3	10 th	488.3	10 th	784.5	5 th	370.0	1 st

JR™ Score	JR™ Tier	Projected Record		Playoff Odds	Bye-pocalypse
3.60	2 of 3	Wins	Loses	37%	Week(s)
		6	8	(LFC – 3 rd)	5, 6, 9 & 10

Since the formation of the conferences, Rich has made the LFC championship game twice, eventually finishing 4th and 3rd. The year before he finished second. So why am I always surprised he's in the mix? Probably because he has an overall losing record (27-28) and predictions often have him in the bottom half of rankings. Or maybe it's because the LFC is soo bad that you can make the playoffs almost regardless of how good your team is. Perhaps this year will change that? The experts have Rich below Alex in rankings and his projected points are also below Alex too! Let's have a look at why and if he's got a chance of continuing to buck the trends.

His QB core is down the bottom of the ranks with the likes of Lee. Why? Well, with JJ McCarthy going out for the season he is down to just two starters: Purdy who scrapes in as a QB1 and the immobile and nocturnal Aaron Rodgers a QB2, then a load of backups. Hoping on injuries is never a good sign for a team that has seemingly had loftier ambitions. 10th in projected points by over 100 points is a tough start for this team.

It's an even worse story at RB. We've gone from new testament to old testament with the focus on old. Ekeler and Zeke are his two starting RBs with neither possibly even the starting back for their teams. Then he has a RB3, three RB4s and it only gets worse from there. Rich could really do with improving this room to even hope to compete in the LFC this year! At 10th in projected points here too and nearly 400 points behind the leader, it's seemingly another uphill battle.

Next up is his WRs which is much better than the QB and RB cores. Well, it could hardly be worse!! The highlight of Dudders team is his WRs led by his two WR1s, Devonte Adams and AJ Brown, and WR2 Jaylen Waddle. After that two sophomores in Tank Dell and suspect driver Jordan Addison. Then it's a lot of youth and hope. This room is ranked a bit higher in the pack but mid-table for projected points. I feel like these players are going to be a fixture in his flex spots.....

.....if they can get ahead of his TEs. Perhaps a rebrand to Tight Inch by inch is needed as Rich seems to want to horde all the TEs. In sharp contrast to the rest of his team he has the numero-uno TE core with two TE1s including Sam LaPorta, and then as many TEs as he can squeeze on his bench and taxi. Moving to TE Premium has been a boon for Rich and those flex spots are begging for a Tight End to be squeezed in!

With just two starting QBs and chronic RBs there's a few bye weeks where there will be opportunities for opponents to take advantage. Weeks 5 (vs Ross), 6 (vs Chris), 9 (vs Gareth – a new clash of the gash???) and 10 (vs Dave) he's got some tricky matchups against the MFC and the LFC.

There are a range of outcomes for Mr D where all of his players stay fit and he makes another run in the playoffs (as the LFC could remain uncompetitive). There is another possibility where a couple of injuries hit in key areas and he takes the Golden Turd off the present Loser of All Losers. Feels like Rich is at a bit of a cross-roads. With at least one LFC team on the up, is now the time to focus on the future before it is forced upon him? Let's not forget that Gareth went from finalist to Loser of All Losers in just one season thanks to that 'No Trade policy'.

10. Tompa Bay Bucs (Mike - LFC) – Runner Up

2023				2024
Power Ranking	Prediction ECR (JR™)	Regular Season Finish	Overall Finish	Power Ranking	Prediction	Jebus Ranking™
80	4 th (2 nd)	1 st (+3)	2 nd (+2)	98 (+18)	2 nd	1 st

QB		RB		WR		TE
FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™
2 nd	1 st	4 th	3 rd	6 th	=2 nd	7 th	=1 st

Total		QB		RB		WR		TE
Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank
2879.8	1 st	967.0	1 st	778.1	4 th	787.0	4 th	347.7	3 rd

JR™ Score	JR™ Tier	Projected Record		Playoff Odds	Bye-pocalypse
2.48	1 of 3	Wins	Loses	87% (LFC – 1 st)	Week(s)
		8	6		6 & 14

From the ridiculous to the sublime in the LFC. Another back-to-back champion (can you really be a champion without a trophy?) who got pipped at the final hurdle once again. Top or near top of the rankings once more and top of projected points it looks like he's in with a shout. Will Mike make it third time lucky or will he be looking to catch that bouquet again before slinking off with a groomsman?

With the strongest QB lineups, Mike can boast the QB2 and 3. Beyond that he has a QB2 in last year's yards leader Tua which gives him the number one spot in projected points by over 60 points. Lee must be incredibly envious. Beyond that, a fourth starter and QB3, Sam Darnold is also there as cover then some more backups just waiting on an injury to hit. When will Jaren Hall get his opportunity to shine?

Mike's RB core is in the top four but has again lost some of the strength it had in the last year or two. He still has two RB1s, two RB2s, an RB3 then a wasteland. It's a solid core but there's a few question marks over a couple of them: Can Kyren Williams stay fit, will Montgomery get anything but goal line work and what is Swift now?

Mike's WR core seems to have somewhat of a split opinion and maybe a bit on the decline. The experts have it at 6th, JR joint second and the projected points split the difference at fourth. Very much like his RB room, Mike has two WR1s, two WR2s and a WR3 then a wasteland. He'll have options for his flex spots every week but is this a chink in Mike's well assembled team's armour?

Once again, a bit of a split in opinion at TE. Seventh or first or third best? Who knows? The problem is he has a few unknowns. Is Kyle Pitts the future or will the new look Falcons spread the ball round a bit. Is Jake Ferguson going to be the red zone target while Ceedee is on strike? When will Hockenson recover and become productive again.....with Sam Darnold at QB??? He could have a great TE room but he may have an absent one. Who knows?

With options across each position there's not a lot of problems with bye weeks. The just two fairly significant bye week clashes are week 6 (vs Ross) and week 14 (vs Lee).

Mike's certainly got the quality in every position group to make a play for the belt once again. Are there enough chinks in his armour for there to be an actual competition in the LFC this year? Will Mike consider trading out of some of those blue chip assets to strengthen in those areas of need? I know a team with some WRs who needs a QB.... Also, what is this holding onto past with that team name? Tom's gone. Get over it.

11. Raiders of the Lost Yard (Jebus - MFC) – Champ Champ

2023				2024
Power Ranking	Prediction ECR (JR™)	Regular Season Finish	Overall Finish	Power Ranking	Prediction	Jebus Ranking™
88	2 nd (3 rd)	3 rd (-1)	1 st (+1)	94 (+6)	3 rd	2 nd

QB		RB		WR		TE
FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™	FP	JR™
3 rd	2 nd	3 rd	2 nd	3 rd	=4 th	4 th	=4 th

Total		QB		RB		WR		TE
Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank	Points	Rank
2825.8	3 rd	899.2	3 rd	816.5	3 rd	819.3	2 nd	290.8	7 th

JR™ Score	JR™ Tier	Projected Record		Playoff Odds	Bye-pocalypse
2.71	1 of 3	Wins	Loses	89% (MFC – 2 nd)	Week(s)
		9	5		6, 7 & 14

Last but most certainly not least is your noble Commissioner who also just happens to be the reigning champion who also just happens to be the champion from the year before too. Does his team still hold up to his hither to dominance, maybe even a dynasty? Or has the championship window closed and the creditors knocking on the door? His side is certainly the most consistent, top four in every category but let's take a closer look to see if there's any weaknesses to be exploited to stop the three-peat.

Well, here's weakness number one. Whilst his team boasts two QB1s, his QB2 Baker Mayfield had a great year (for him) last year but the QB whisperer has left town. He will need another massive stroke of luck in Lamar and Dak staying injury free again to keep up with the top teams in the MFC and LFC.

The RB room is a different story and an improvement in terms of age. Mainly down to the mustard man himself, Bijan Robinson. With two RB1s, and three RB2s he's got some options most weeks and a bit of injury cover. Most of them are old though – very very old. After that, nothing. Almost literally. What the hell is he going to do in future years?

At WR is another core that just keeps on getting older. Still top four ranked and second in projected points mainly down to the man whose infidelity and virility knows no bounds. Much like the ladies of Miami, I wouldn't be surprised if the whole US Olympic sprint team in 2044 didn't have a bit of Tyreek in them. After that WR1, your Commissioner/Champ Champ also has two WR2s, a WR3 then a whole lot of hopes and dreams. If Tyreek gets injured, this WR room collapses, doesn't it!?

TE is not too dissimilar to the WR room. One stud then a whole load of backups. Fortunately for him, the backup to MAndrews did rather well in his absence so he might get away with it again! In the unlikely event of another injury in Baltimore, Jebus is a bit fucked.

With a couple of depth issues and a reliance on the Baltimore Ravens, there a few weeks where you're champion may be more beatable. Weeks 6 (vs Alex), 7 (vs Lee) and 14 (vs Chris).

Like Aaron Rodgers, Jebus may feel he wants to cement his legacy by adding another ring to his collection. But like Rodgers his team isn't getting any younger. It looks like it's now or never to win again as these players are going to age out very soon and it looks like future Jebus is going to have a major rebuild on his hands. Maybe he'll just sell what he can get for his better players and get ahead of that debt he may never be able to pay off?

12. Conclusion

Well done for making it this far. May I be the first to congratulate Mike on winning his first belt and retaining the LFC 'title'. He finally got that monkey off his back.

Don't take what I've said too much to heart. What do I know? Maybe do take my rankings a bit more to heart than the experts but given both levels of inaccuracy I would take them with a pinch of salt. There's still time now and in season to change your fortunes – whether that's to win this year or beyond.

In any case, enjoy the highs and lows of another Dynasty season and remember: in the end there can be only one glorious champion.