

Jessica Alba Dynasty League – 2023 Season Review – Part Two

1. Introduction

So gents, with the end of the round-robin and before we start our conference rounds, it's the second mid-season review. We'll take a look at where we are, hand out some minor awards and see where we may be going.

2. Round-Robin Review

LFC

Mike sealed a win over Gareth and keeps his top spot in the LFC and is the first team to be confirmed in the playoffs! He's outscored his divisional rivals by nearly 150 points so is looking good to get that important bye. Dave squeezed past Alex in week 9 keeping him in second and only one win away from the playoffs too. Rich narrowly lost to Ross and needs 2 more wins to save the LFC of the embarrassment of only having two playoff spots. He needs to get back on track if the LFC are to keep that 3rd playoff spot. It's still technically possible for Gareth to make the playoffs but, if my calculations are right, Alex is the first team to be a confirmed member of the toilet consolation bowl and at least one top 4 pick (as assets stand).

MFC

Another fairly close victory for Lee at The Penitentiary keeps him top of the MFC. Unlike the LFC, you will need a winning record to make sure of the playoffs at this early stage. One more win to go for Lee. Next up is Ross who beat Rich as already mentioned. Two more wins for him should seal a playoff spot. Neil had an incredible week 9 and his victory over your noble commissioner leaves 3rd and 4th with 5-4 records. At nearly 200 points behind me, Neil needs a better record than your noble commissioner and possibly Ross to make sure he takes one of those playoff spots. Another loss for Chris leaves him cast adrift at the bottom of the MFC. He needs to win the five remaining games, hope results go in his favour and add over 200 extra points to outscore you noble Commissioner and Ross to make the playoffs. He's basically out and it's 99.9% that Alex has 2 of the top four picks at the next draft (as assets stand)!

3. Conference Leaders

As above, Mike and Lee sit atop of their conferences. 🏆

But the winner of the second phase of the season is Lee at 4-0. Honourable to Dave, Mike and Ross who are all 3-1.

4. Conference Losers

As you all know, Alex and Chris are presently bottom of the pile in their conferences. 🤖

Alex and Chris are also bottom of the pile for the second phase of the season too with 0-4 records. Honourable mention to Gareth who is 1-3.

5. Top Scorer

Lee remains the highest points scorer with a record breaking 1,381.92 points at this stage. 🔥 There are 3 other teams with over 1,300 points than a large gap to Dave with less than 1,200 points.

6. Fewest Points

Going hand in glove with his terrible record, Alex continues to score the fewest points with just 795.10 points. A new record low at this stage! 🤖

7. Potential Points

Since the draft order is mainly based on potential points, I'll give a short lowdown on those at the bottom. Alex would be taking the highest available pick with 1,068.66, followed by Gareth at 1,097.36. Conversely, Chris would have the lowest pick with 1,292.24 closely followed by Neil with 1,243.34.

8. Best Defence

The best 'defence' has switched from Mike to Dave who has only conceded 1,053.08, just ahead of Rich at 1,094.78. 🏠 The team who has conceded the most remains Jebus with 1,263.54, more than six teams have even managed to score! Honourable mention to Gareth who has also conceded over 1,200 points!

9. Least FAAB used

Neil has the most of his FAAB left, having spent just $61! 💰

Next closest is Rich with $900 remaining!

10. Most FAAB used

In their desperation for a victories, Ross and Chris have spent over $600 FAAB! Ross has $310 left and Chris $343.

11. Best Manager

Our second phase best manager is shared across your Commissioner, Gareth, Neil and Rich. Alex, Chris, Dave and Rich share our worst manager of the phase 🤖 🤖

12. MVP Picker

Our second phase 'MVP Picker' award winner is Neil with 6 top scoring players, half of those in week 9. 🗨️ Honourable mentions to Ross with 4. Chris and Dave have the fewest outstanding players with not one top scoring player. 🤔

13. Benchwarmer

Neil seems to have few duds and win our 'Benchwarmer' Award winner with no player winning a benchwarmer spot. 🤪 This may be a reflection on how awful his bench is.

In contrast, Chris has left masses of points on his benches 4 times [definitely not just a terrible, terrible selector of players]! 🧑 Honourable mention to Dave, Gareth, Lee, Mike and Ross who have left some top players on their bench 3 times.

14. Week 10 – Basement Bowl

First up our interconference matchup is the 5th place finishers from last year, Alex and Neil. I would say this is an easy win for Neil and it may well be but with Daniel Jones and Stafford out, projections have the teams tightly matched.

LFC

In the LFC, 2nd plays third with Dave playing Rich. It's not looking good for Rich with just one QB and his Eagles and Dolphins out. Can Gareth win these five games and put Rich's playoff spot in doubt? Well Gareth is playing Mike again so at a first glance it might seem unlikely. However, Mike has no active QBs! He's known that Mahomes, Hurts and Tua share a bye week since May of this year. Will he make a trade or will the first pick punishment fall on the LFC's leader? He's still projected to beat Gareth but he's recently been outscoring those projections. A big loss plus the loss of a second round pick is not a good look for the sporting integrity of the LFC.

MFC

Lee has his second trip to the Penitentiary this week, with a victory Lee would likely secure a playoff spot and send Chris into the consolation bowl with absolute certainty. Projections very much indicate that result but we've had bigger surprises this year. Last up is your noble Commissioner vs Ross. A win for Ross would be the first step in guaranteeing a playoff spot but a loss (and a Neil win) could drag him into a playoff spot battle.

15. Conclusion

It's been a good second phase of the season. There's been a few upsets, a couple of good trades and a hot chase for the playoffs and the elusive Championship belt. No team has truly dominated but one has already qualified for the playoffs. All but one team could, technically, still make the playoffs. There's still time to make moves to improve your fortunes or focus on the future.
